

A Clown Never Cries

By: Al Capps / Gordon Marron / Reid Reilich

Here I Go, Playing That Same Old Game Again.
Acting Like I Just Don't Care, That Our Love Is At An End
Underneath This Masquerade I Know It's All Pretend

But A Clown Never Cries
He Just Holds His Tears Inside
And A Frown Is Replaced
By A Smile Upon His Face
But The Smile Is Only Make-Up
And The Clown Will Some Day Wake Up
And Discover What He Gave Up
Was You

Afraid To Cry I Keep On Laughing All The Time
Tell A Funny Joke Or Two Trying To Get You Off My Mind
I Cannot Stand To Think About The Love We Left Behind

Cause A Clown Doesn't Cry
He Just Smiles And Wave's Goodbye
Because Clowns Always Know
That A Tear Will Spoil The Show
But The Smile Is Only Make-Up
And The Clown Will Some Day Wake Up
And Discover What He Gave Up
Was You

No A Clown Never Cries
He Just Holds His Tears Inside
And A Frown Is Replaced
By A Smile Upon His Face

No A Clown Never Cries
He Just Smiles And Waves Goodbye
Because Clowns Always Know
That A Tear Will Spoil The Show
